Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, June 10, 1746.

N°. 59.

LEGHORN, February 21.

JUST now arrived his Britannic majeſty's ſloop Spence, in two days from Mahon; where he left vice-admiral Medley, with 16 ſail of his majeſty's ſhips, in that harbour, intending to ſail in a few days. Two days ago arrived a veſſel from Corſica; the maſter of which ſays, that three Engliſh men of war were cannonading the caſtle on the iſland of Caprea.

Turin, March 4, O. S. The marſhal Maillebois is making all poſſible haſte to get away from us; and we fear the fright he is in, will carry him through ſome difficulties, which would otherwiſe have ſeem'd impracticable. The roads in general are exceſſive bad; and the ſnow, within theſe two days, has fallen a foot deep in the valleys, but much more on the mountains. The town and caſtle of Acqui is entirely abandoned by the French; they have left behind them a great ſtore of ammunition and proviſion. We follow them as faſt as due caution and the bad roads will permit; but fear gives them the heels of us, and we only now and then pick up a few odd troops, who always pretend to be deſerters.

Copenhagen, Feb. 18. The malady which has ſo long reigned among our cattle, is not quite abated; and according to the exacteſt computation that can be made, there have died here, to the 24th of January laſt, 284827 beaſts; and of theſe, in the duchy of Sleſwick only, 94974; which is a loſs our peaſants can hardly bear.

Hague, March 6. The laſt letters from Italy have entirely undeceived us with regard to the report of an accommodation between France, Spain, and the court of Turin; and we learn on the contrary, that this court labours inceſſantly to concert meaſures with that of Vienna, and makes every where ſuch preparations as promiſe a vigorous campaign.

The Turks having taken umbrage at the armament made by the court of Peterſburg, have determined to form an army of 40,000 men in Moldavia; and have actually erected magazines for the uſe of their troops.

Paris, March 14. By letters from Madrid of the 28th of laſt month, we have received advice that the Ferrol ſquadron, commanded by M. Alvarez, ſet ſail from that port the 10th of the ſame month. The prince of Campo Florido received the ſame news a few days before the public had it, by a courier from Madrid; and we expect the next poſt from Spain will tell us what courſe that ſquadron has ſteer'd.

Paris, March 18. M. de Farmacon, who is appointed to land in Scotland ſome troops, carries to prince Edward the patent of generaliſſimo of all the French and Spaniſh troops already landed, and to be landed, in that kingdom.

Liege, March 18. The prince of Waldeck ſtill maintains his poſt behind the Dyle without the leaſt moleſtation, and receives daily reinforcements to his army. Mons and Charleroy are ſo environ'd by the French, that the Dutch ſoldiers returned from Furlo, and the recruits cannot, as is ſaid, join their regiments in thoſe Garriſons.

Paris, March 18. A conſiderable armament has been long preparing at Breſt; and we are aſſured that the ſquadron is actually equipped, and ready to put to ſea, under the command of the duke d'Anville: Some men of war are failed on a cruize to clear the coaſt. There are in that port 50 ſmall tranſports, and ſeveral fiſhing veſſels, to carry the neceſſaries for the embarkation. A certain great man is ſet out from Verſailles, and 'tis currently reported is gone to Breſt; which route the chevalier Stuart has alſo taken.

Mantua, March 9. The Spaniards and French have not only divided their armies, but their intereſts; which is very odd at this juncture, when union is ſo very neceſſary to both. The Spaniards have taken the white cockades out of their hats, declaring that they will not fight under French colours any more, having diſcovered, that the French ſcheme was only to carry their point in Flanders, without any regard to the Spaniſh intereſt in Italy.

Ulm (a city of Germany), March 15. An Auſtrian courier is juſt arrived here from Turin, in his way to Vienna. He left Turin ſix days ago, and brings word, that his Sardinian majeſty has no intentions to make a ſeparate peace; but that on the contrary, encouraged by the arrival of the Auſtrian troops in Italy, his majeſty is preparing for a vigorous campaign.

Milan, March 15. It is thought that in a few days the Spaniards will evacuate the whole of the Milaneſe; and we have a report here that the French have abandoned Acqui, which however is what we can ſcarce believe, becauſe it is a place of more conſequence than all their other conqueſts, in as much as the communication with Savona depends upon it. To ſay the truth, the affairs of the allies have taken a very bad turn; and the king of Sardinia, with leſs than 30,000 men, has recovered in five days, what they were above five months in taking with an army of 70,000.

LONDON, March 12.

We are inform'd, by Letters from Edinburgh, that the Rebels are ſaid to be 5000 ſtrong, having been joined by the Lowlanders, who ſeparated from them when they went to Tay-bridge.

Extract of a Letter from an Officer in the Duke's Army, dated Aberdeen, March 8.

" I believe the Rebels intended to diſperſe, 'till they heard of the French Embarkation in their Favour; on which they had aſſembled again near Inverneſs, in a large Body, and have taken the Fort. They give out that they will meet our Army, and oppoſe our croſſing the River Spey. However we ſhall march towards it on Monday, and attack them in their Entrenchments, if they offer to diſpute our Paſſage, which I don't believe they will. We ſhall continue our March to Inverneſs, which we hope to perform in ten Days. During our Stay here, we have

ſent

ſent out Parties to ſecure Poſts, and cut off the Rebels Proviſions. Our whole Army will be 15 Battalions of Foot, and 6 Squadrons of Horſe.

March 13. The French court has not only taken a reſolution to remove the Dutch priſoners of war out of the Low Countries; but alſo to ſend the moſt of them into the heart of France, and ſome of them as far as the frontiers of Spain.

Orders are given for tranſports to be taken up, for the immediate embarkation of a conſiderable number of forces for Cape-Breton; who are to be convoy'd by four men of war: And nine men of war are appointed to convoy the merchant ſhips bound to the Weſt-Indies, to their reſpective ports.

It is ſaid, that admiral Mayne will ſoon ſail to the Weſt-Indies to relieve admiral Davers.

Some letters from Argyleſhire aſſure, that Fort-William made a brave defence; and by throwing ſome bombs, which luckily fell amongſt the rebels, ſeveral were killed, and the reſt retir'd.

Gleſgow, March 24. From Argyleſhire we are informed, that 26 villages in Morven, and the places adjacent, have been burnt, by a party ſent aſhore from the ſloops of war on the weſt coaſt; theſe villages were chiefly poſſeſſed by the Camerons.

We are as much in the dark concerning the motion of the rebels as ever. In a letter from Aberdeen, dated the 15th inſtant, it is ſaid the main body is at Fochabers, a quarter of a mile off this ſide of the Spey; on hearing of which, the duke ordered 4 regiments of foot to Inverury, Kintore, and Oldrum; and that morning an expreſs arrived, adviſing that 150 of the rebels were advancing towards Inverury; on which his royal highneſs detached 4 more, with ſome dragoons and ſome cannon to that place; ſo that a battle is ſoon expected.

London, March 20. They write from Conſtantinople, both by the Way of Vienna and Venice, that the Shah Nadir had only amuſed the Grand Signior with Propoſals of Peace, and that he was endeavouring to march with an Army of 120,000 Men towards Anatolia, and ſo directly to the Capital, which had occaſioned a prodigious Conſternation, and the Reſolution lately taken of marching all their Forces on the Frontiers of Hungary into Aſia, and aſſembling there the whole Force of the Ottoman Empire in the Spring.

On the 9th of this inſtant, in the afternoon, prince Lobkowitz died at Vienna, univerſally lamented.

Major-general Frampton's regiment, conſiſting of 1000 men, are ordered for Cape-Breton; and we hear draughts will be made out of the ſeveral regiments, to be ſent thither to defend that place.

Laſt Sunday his majeſty's ſhips the Canterbury and Edinburgh, having on board 300 of col. Frampton's regiment of foot, ſailed from Portſmouth to Spithead, to join the fleet at Plymouth, commanded by commodore Knowles; and after convoying the Weſt-India trade, will go to Cape-Breton.

March 25. His majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint ——— Warburton, Eſq; to be governor of Cape-Breton; on whoſe arrival there, admiral Warren will embark for England.

March 27. Yeſterday came advice, that the Hazard ſloop, which has been ſo uſeful to the pretender's affairs, in paſſing and repaſſing between Dunkirk and Scotland, is drove aſhore near Oſtend, and deſtroyed, by one of our men of war.

There are letters from Lyons in France, dated the 16th inſt. adviſing that the king of Sardinia had penetrated into Villa-Franca; and that they, by the aſſiſtance of ſome Engliſh men of war, had made themſelves maſters of that place.

From the London Gazette.

Whitehall, March 10. This Day an Expreſs arrived from his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, with the following Intelligence.

Aberdeen, March 5. The whole Army arrived at this Place by the End of laſt Week; and we ſhall have within theſe four or five Days a Recruit of 500 recovered Men from Edinburgh and England, beſides the Regiment of Bligh, which is coming up by Sea; and as the Heſſians are moving forwards towards Perth, the Scotch Fuzileers are alſo to come up this Way from that Place, as ſoon as the firſt Diviſion of the Heſſians draws near it; and the Duke of Kingſton's Regiment of Horſe is within a March of us. The Day after his Royal Highneſs came hither, he detached Lord Ancram with 100 Dragoons, and Major Morris with 300 Foot under his Command, to a Caſtle at the Head of the River Don, 40 Miles from hence, call'd Corgarf, and ſituated in the Heart of the Rebellion, in order to get Poſſeſſion of a Quantity of Spaniſh Arms and Powder which were lodged there; his Lordſhip took them without Reſiſtance, the Rebels having quitted the Caſtle upon his Approach; but as they had driven away the Horſes of the Country, he was forced to deſtroy moſt of the Arms, and 30 Barrels of Powder. Lord Aberdeen is here, and ſhows the greateſt Zeal for his Majeſty's Service. Lord Findlater, and his Son-in-Law Mr. Grant, are alſo come hither, the latter of which offers to bring out 600 of his People arm'd, which he will do as ſoon as every Thing is ready for our March.

The laſt and beſt Accounts we had of the Rebels were, that Lord Lewis Gordon, with the Perſon call'd Lord John Drummond, were at Gordon Caſtle, on this Side the Spey, with about 100 Men juſt to cover their Quarters. The Main of their Body, which they call 2000, is on the other Side of that River, making a Shew of Retrenching themſelves, tho' they have but two Pieces of Cannon with them, and theſe without Carriages, which they coaſted along from Montroſe thither.

The Pretender's Son is ſtill at Inverneſs, with 3 or 4000 of the Clans, according to their own reckoning, ſo that if a Stand is made at all, it will be probably there. We move but ſlowly, being obliged to carry Magazines of all Sorts of Proviſions with us, which incumbers and retards us. The March from hence to Inverneſs will take ſome Days to form; as that of the Highlanders, of whom we have a conſiderable Body, muſt be concerted and ſettled at the ſame Time; but we ſhall be again in Motion as ſoon as poſſible.

'Tis aſſured from Perth, that when the Duke of Cumberland, took Poſſeſſion of Drummond Caſtle, (the Duke of Perth's Seat) before any of the Proviſions found there were uſed, his Highneſs ordered ſome to be given to Dogs, which it poiſon'd and kill'd immediately.

London, March 13. We hear, a Number of Colliers, now in the River, are taken up to carry 2000 of the Guards to Aberdeen.

We are informed, by Letters from Edinburgh, that the Rebels are ſaid to be 5000 ſtrong, having been joined by the Lowlanders, who ſeparated from them when they went to Tay-bridge.

The Retreat of Lord London to Cromarty, to take Shelter in that important Place, and our preventing its falling into the Hands of the French, are generally applauded as the beſt Step that could have been taken at this Juncture, as Nature ſeems to have formed that Haven for the Reception and Securing of Fleets, it being the fineſt, and beyond all Denial the ſafeſt, in Britain; that is, moſt capable of being defended, either by ourſelves or an Enemy: For it is ſcarce more than Piſtol-ſhot over it at its Entrance, betwixt Rocks that are naturally impregnable; yet expands it ſelf within, to an Extent, and full Depth of Water, that are ſcarcely any where elſe to be met with; and has a Bottom the cleaneſt in the World, and moſt proper for Anchorage.

We

We are assured by a private Letter from Edinburgh, that Lord Loudon has received Orders to embark his Men from Crowarty, to join the Duke's Army on the Road to Inverneſs; and that ſome of the Men of War now there, will be left to keep Poſſeſſion of that Haven.

That our Army at Aberdeen is furniſhed with two Months Proviſions; all the Store-ſhips being ſafely arrived there.

And that the Army under his Royal Highneſs the Duke, was in high Spirits, and was daily join'd by a great Number of Voluntiers. It is not doubted therefore, but as ſoon as the Weather permits, they would be able to march and diſlodge the Rebels from Inverneſs, &c.

All the Heſſians are ordered to be quartered at Stirling, Dumblane and Perth, to prevent the Return of the Rebels Southward.

The Taxes already impoſed on the Inhabitants of Bruſſels, are ſo unequal as well as ſo heavy, that it has been reſolved to ſend Deputies to Paris, in order, if it be poſſible, to obtain ſome Alleviation.

The French King has ordered half a Million of Livres to be diſtributed among the Troops employed at the Siege of Bruſſels.

The Hazard Sloop of War which arrived ſome time ago at Dunkirk, had on board the Lord George Murray, and on his Arrival at the Court of Verſailles, we hear that he was committed to the Baſtile.

Weymouth, March 26. Arrived at Belfaſt, the Grace, Nelſon from New-York, and the Cheſter, Blair, from Philadelphia.

Briſtol, March 24. The Garland and London Privateers have taken a Ship of 20 Guns, bound from France to Guiney, which the London has carried to Liſbon: The ſaid Ships have alſo taken a French Ship of 36 Guns, and 150 Men, call'd La Victoire, Capt. Plaſeliere, bound from Cape Francois for Port Louis in France; ſhe fought the Garland two Hours before the London came up, but afterwards took her, and ſent her for England; ſhe has on board 110 Cheſts of Spaniſh Dollars, and great Quantities of other valuable Effects.

London, March 18. The Dutch Troops have been embark'd the whole of laſt Week for Holland; and now as the Wind is fair, they no doubt will ſet ſail.

March 29. The Deſtruction of the Hazard Sloop near Oſtend is confirm'd; and that it was not done by a Man of War, but by the Swift Privateer, Capt. Hudſon, belonging to Sandwich, who fired 700 Shot at her from firſt to laſt.

Extract of a Letter from Portſmouth, March 25.

Laſt Night arrived at Spithead his Majeſty's Ship Princeſſa, Cap. Philpot, who parted from Admiral Townſhend with ſix Ships, off the Bermuda Iſlands, in a hard Gale of Wind, and ſome of his Ships had loſt their Maſts, when the Princeſſa ſprung a Leak, and was obliged to bear away for England: She has had conſtantly 50 Men a Day at the Pump, and with great Difficulty kept her free. In her Paſſage ſhe met with the Ipſwich, and ſoon after loſt her Company; after which ſhe met with her again, having loſt her Foremaſt and Mainmaſt, but hath not ſeen her ſince the 5th Inſtant.

Newcaſtle, April 4. By a Letter which arrived here from the North on Monday Night, we are informed, that the Heſſians have had an Engagement near Blair with a Party of the Rebels of whom they kill'd 100, and took 500 Priſoners, having only 3 Huſſars miſſing on their Side.

Extract of a Letter from Montroſe, March 24.

We hear of a Skirmiſh part of our Army has had with the Rebels, to the Diſadvantage of the latter, about 900 of them being kill'd and taken Priſoners; but the Particulars are not fully known to us. I hope his Royal Highneſs, who has chearfully undertaken the Defence of our Country and Liberties, will by God's Aſſiſtance, ſettle us in Peace and Tranquility.

'Tis ſaid the young Pretender lies dangerouſly ill at Elgin.

BOSTON April 28.

Laſt Tueſday Morning came in here an Expreſs from Falmouth, who informs, that the 19th Inſtant about 10 o'Clock, Mr. Briant of Gerham-Town, about 10 Miles from thence, with 3 others, went to work in a Field three quarters of a Mile from the Fort, when the ſaid Briant was ſhot to Death by the Indians, two of the others were taken, and the other made his Eſcape to the Fort, and informed that he ſaw about 20 Indians, who went from the Field to ſaid Briant's Houſe, and kill'd and ſcalp'd 4 of his Children, 3 of whom were knock'd in the Head by an Axe, the other had it's Brains beat out againſt the Hearth. This was diſcover'd in the Afternoon by ſome Perſons from the Fort. His Wife was miſſing, and 'tis ſuppoſed is taken Priſoner. One of the Perſons taken was ſeen to be ſtript naked by the Indians.
